Aka Lovely11Art

Tara Lynn Weeks grew up in a small town in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan—surrounded by lakes, streams, rivers, flowers, and abundant nature. Natural elements still reign as a theme to all of her work. After graduating cum laude from Northern Michigan University with a Bachelor of Fine Art degree, she moved to the city of Phoenix to become part of a thriving art community.

“When you experience a viewing of Tara’s art, expect to be drawn in. The mesmerizing eyes of her female characters and lush scenery invite you into a place you didn’t know existed. It’s hopeful, curious, and ethereal. And completely glorious to get lost in. There are no paradigms or political statements, no snark or sarcasm, but rather a thoughtful innocence that reminds one of a precocious child. This is a land for which you will definitely want to return. Her work is evocative and playful, sophisticated but without artifice. Thoughtful, joyous, reflective, still, ebullient. . .intuitive and strong, yet with an undercurrent of sensuality and charm. There is still plenty of room in her kingdom for all emotions.” –Jamie Lisanby, art writer

As the artist explains, “I am inspired by so many things: people, beauty, nature, dreams, music, poetry, life. . . I keep creating music and art and thanking God everyday for it. I want to create work that is beautiful, meaningful, personal, and symbolic: to provide inspiration, a sense of magic, and hope.”
